THESE WORLD-RENOWNED SEWING

MACHINES
TO ERE awarded the Highest Premium at the World's Fair, in London, and six First Premiums at the N. Y. State Fair of 1856, and are celebrated for doing the best work, using a much smaller needle for the same thread than any other machine, and by the introduction of the most approved machinery, we are now able to supply the very best manufacture.

machines in the world. These machines are made at our new and spacious Factory at Bridgeport, Conn., under the immediate supervision of the President of the Company, ELLAS HOWE, Jr., the original inventor of the Sewing Machine.

They are adapted to all kinds of Family Sewing, and to the use of Seamstreases, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Boots, Shoes, Harness, Saddles, Linen Goods, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linea, cotton or woolen goods with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, gather, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stich, alike ou both sides of the articles sewed

The Stitch invented by Mr. HOWE, and made on this Machine, is the most popular and durable, and all Sewing Machines are subject to the principle invented by him.

"IF WE KNEW." If we knew the wee and heart-ache, Waiting for us down the road; If our lips could taste the worm-wood, If our backs could feel the load; Would we waste to-day in wishing For a time that ne'er can be;

Would we wait in such impatience

For our ships to come from sea? If we knew the baby-fingers Pressed against the window-pane, Would be cold and stiff to-morrow-Never trouble us again; Would the bright eyes of our darling Catch the frown upon our brow? Would the print of rosy tingers

Ver us then as they do now? Ah, thes: little ice-cold fingers, How they point our memories back, To the hasty words and actions Strawn along our backward track! How these little hands remind us, As in snowy grace they lie, Not to scatter thorns-but roses-For our reaping by-and-by!

Strange we never prize the music Till the sweet-volces bird has flown; Strange that we should slight the violets Till the lovely flowers are gone; Strange that summer - Lies and sun hine Never seem one-half so fair As when Winter's snowy pinions

Shake their white down in the air !

Lips from which the seal of silence None but God can roll away, Never blossomed in such beauty As adorus the mouth to-day; And sweet words that freight our memory With their beautiful perfume, Come to us in sweeter accents Through the portale of the tomo.

Let us gather up the sunbeams Lying all along our path; Let us keep the wheat and roses, Casting out the thorns and chaff; Let us find our sweetest comfort In the blessings of to-day; With a patient hand removing All the briers from our way,

Alliscallaneons.

The Flight of Time. There are many things of which we have a much more vivid perception at some times than at others. The thing is before you; but sometimes you can grasp it firmly-sometimes it cludes you mistily. You are walking along a country path just within hearing of distant after much persuasion, the groom was induced You hear them faintly; but, all of sudden, by some caprice of the wind, the lady's turn, and when the minister asked her sound is borne to you with startling clearness. There is something analogous to that in our perceptions and feelings of many great facts and truths. Commonly we perceive them and borne in upon us, we cannot say how. Sometimes we get vivid glimpses of things which never discerned and realized before. And for many days it has been so with me. I have seemed to feel the lapse of time with startling

it successfully in a puddle. Olden Times.

Long ago, in Massachusetts, it was the custom for a person to go about the meeting-house during Divine service, and wake up the sleepers. He bore a long wand, on one end of which was a ball and on the other a foxes' tail. When he observed the men asleep, he rapped them on the head with the knob, and roused the slumbering sensibilities of the ladies by drawing the brush lightly across their faces.

STAn individual who was sent to jail for marrying two wives, excused himself by saying that when he had one she fought him, but when he had two they fought each other.

Playing Pool.

Most every body knows how to play pool To those who don't know we will state that the game is played on a billiard table, with twenty or thirty balls, each ball numbered. A dozen or more can play at the game. A certain number is fixed upon, and the player who shall first pocket enough balls, whose combined numbers will amount to it, wins the pilewhich is made up by the players staking a certain amount before the game commences.-Previous to the commencement each player draws a marble from the box and puts it out of sight in his pocket. These marbles are all numbered to correspond with the numbers on the table. The player, after receiving his marble, bears the number in his mind, and his game is to pocket balls enough, the number of which, added to that on the marble in his pocket, will make the number which wins the pile.

The other night an old citizen of one of our Western cities, who was occasionally given to "chauce," came home rather late. His wife was releep. When she awoke in the morning e found on the coor a marble, upon which was the number ""7."

"What's thus?" Che said to her lord, eyeing the marble suspiciously. "It dropped out of your pantsloons pocket. What is it?" Her husband opened his eyes, looked, blushed, was confused and stammered,--"Why-why-it's a marble, aint it?" "Yes," said she, "but what are you doing with a marble in your pocket at your time of life?" "In my pocket? Well-ah!-the fact is I've had that marble in my pocket for the last thirty-five years; over since I used to play for keeps with Bill." "Indeed?" incredulously asked his wife-

"but what are these figures on here for? What does 17 mean?" "Mean? 17 mean?" said he, hesitatingly.-O, 17!-why, that was the number of marbles Bill owed me when we quit playing; he hasn't played rule since.

A Washington correspondent says that those who have been painfully fortunate enough to see a prize fight can realize Mr. John Morrissey's feelings when he took the oath as a member of Congress:

"I tuk off my coat," he said, "many a time afore now to fight, and-give you my word!-I never shuk so as I did then. It was orful, that was it!" A man in Cleveland advertises a half-interest in a well-regulated laying hen for sale, assigning as a reason his utter inability to spend all the profits.

NO. 19.

A Radical Convention at Huntaville-On the 4th of March a Convention under ead of Judge Safford, Judge Humphreys, Mr. J. C. Keffer, and other well-known citizens of Alabama, assembled at Huntsville. The movement originated entirely with white-men, but had the support of all the prominent representatives of the colored men. Gen. Wagar Swayne, among others, addressed the Convention at length. Of the many radical resolutions adopted the following are the most inter-

RESOLVED, That the rejection of the amendment proposed to the Constitution of the United States, known as the 14th article, by the Southern States, has induced the action upon the part of the legislative power of the Union in adopting other and more radical measures to suppress the spirit of rebellion and the political idea of State antagonism to Federal control. RESOLVED, That the policy of inactivity expressed by the opponents of Congress, and the refusal to participate in the restoration policy of the law-making department of the Union, is the work of a well-known hostility to the Union, and, in the judgment of this Convention, no measures compatible with the safety of republican Governments could be adopted that would satisfy this opposing element.

RESOLVEL, That property qualification attached to the right of suffregy is anti-republican and dangerous to the liberties of the people.

RESOLVED, That we recommend to the true Union men of the discrease counties in the State to hold county meetings within the next sixty days, and that these meetings send delegates to a general convention, to be held in estate Capitol, at such time as may be appointed by the Executive Committee.

A State Convention has been called to meet at Montgomery early in May, to take formal The to reconstruct Alabama on the conditions of Congress.

A Lady Buried Alive.

In the early part of October last there died at Rome, with choleric symptoms, Signora Amaha Barbieri, wife of Count Bennicilli.-After the funeral solemnities the body was deposited in the Campo Santo, until it could be transferred to the Church of the Madelena, when the tomb which was being prepared had been completed. The tomb being finished a The old fellow had a narrow escape, and he few days since the corpse was uncovered, when the fact became evident that the unfortunate lady had been placed in her coffin while she was yet living. # A Virginia Rip Van Winkle.

The Lynchburg (Virginia) REPUBLICAN Says that "a Federal officer belonging to the garrison of this place was met a few days ago while riding about the suburbs by a rusty looking specimen, who came forward and offered to 'surrender.' The officer asked if he had killed anybody, or done any mischief of any kind .-The specimen said he had deserted the Confederate army in 1861, but had heard of General Lee's annesty proclamation while hiding about in the mountains, and had come forward to give himself up, and be returned to zed upon the specimen when he learned that there was now no Southern army, no Southern cause, and that all the battle flags had been folded and put aside. The specimen was treated to a dose of amnesty oath and a pair of blue breeches, and went on his way rejoicing

Important to Young Men and Teachers Every young man, whatever may be his fu-ture calling in life, will find a thorough and practical business cdu ration his greatest aid to success. Such a course may be had by all, as the expense and time necessary for a thorough preparation can readily be spared from the carnings of every industrious youth in the country. Three months only are necessary for a preparation that shall introduce any tarmer's son, teacher or mechanic, into a business position that shall bring hun a good salary. and that may lead him on to a business such cess. At Philadelphia, Pa., a system of msamedon has been introduced into J. C. Mantono's Business and Telegraph College that must be thoroughly practical, and work a revolution in commercial instruction in all schools having pupils enough so that it may be intro-duced. A infortunately this system of instruction can only be earried out in a few of the larger schools in the United States, as it requires to: its successful operation a great number of students in daily attendance. ### SPEECH OF

HON. WM. IL KOONTZ OESPENNSVLVANIA. In the If. of Representatives, March 19, 1867

The House being in the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, and having under consideration the joint resolution appropriating $1,000,000 for the relief of the

Mr. CHAIRMAN: I will detain the committee but a short time white I present the reasons 1 have for supporting the Senate resolution .-What does the resolution propose to do? To empower the Secretary of War to issue supplies of food sufficient to prevent starvation and extreme want among all classes of people in those southour and southwestern States where a failare of the crops and other causes have occa sioned wide-spread destitution. It appropri-ates $1,000,000 for that purpose, which sum is to be distributed under the direction of the Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau.

If it be true in point of fact that by reason of a failure of the crop and other causes any number of persons are in danger of starvation, then sir, the simple statement of the proposition ought to be an argument sufficiently and convincing to secure the passage of the res-olution by this House without a dissenting Wherein consists the evidence of the fact? It comes to us in the shape of an official report from the head of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands. The business of this House is generally digested and arranged by the various committees thereof. --They investigate the matters presented to their consideration, and, after a careful examination of the testimony, present their views to the House in a report. In nearly every in stance a report coming from persons in whom the House confide constitutes the basis of action for all who are not upon the committee .-Now, sir, in this case, it is true, we are not acting upon a report of a committee of this House, but upon a report of the head of one of the most important bureaus in the Government; and from the high character of the person who presents the report we are bound to believe that there was sufficient evidence to justify him in making it. The operations of his bureau have been extended over that section of the country where the theatre of war was, and he would necessarily, from personal observation and the observation of his subordinates, have more accurate information as to the condition of the people there than any other person. I am not prepared to say how long this bureau has been in operation, but it has been organized long enough to satisfy my mind that its head, if even a person of ordinary intelligence, could not fail to have correct knowledge as to the character, babits, wants, and condition of the people over whom his jurisdiction extends.

But, sir, this report comes from one in whom the loyal millions of the nation confide. Beside the experience which General Howard. has had in the bureau over which he presides, and which entitles his opinious to great weight, his patriother, his bravery exhibited in the shock of bartie, and his high Christian character have won for him the admiration, esteem, and gratitude of his countrymen. I accept the report, therefore, as true, coming from an ofsteer of experience, patriolism, and enlighten-ed judgment. This report is as follows: WAR DEPARTMENT, BUREAU OF REFUGEES.

FREEDMEN: AND ABANDONED LANDS, WASHINGTON, MARCH S, 1867. Sin: In answer to the resolution of the Senate of the United States I have the honor to report as follows:

From official sources, and confirmed by gentlemen from different sections of the South, my estimate is 32,66% whites and 24,208 colored people, making in all 56,500, who will need food from some source before the next crop can relieve them. The number of rations for all per month, 1,707,000. For five months the probable time required, 8.535,000 rations at twenty-five cents per ration; the lestimated cost, will be $2,133,750. Of this sum an appropriation has already been made for the five months to the amount of $625,000, leaving an additional sum required of $1,508,750. occasioned by failure of the crop, and other causes referred to in the resolution of inquiry. The present appropriation is ample, provided the issues he confined to the classes named in the Freedmen's Bureau agt; but the additional sum named will be required should the issue be extended as contemplated in the foregoing

The following table affords the detail of the estimate for the several States where want is Very respectfully, your obedient servant.

O. O. HOWARD. Major General, Commissioner Bureau of Ref. Hon. B. F. Wane, President of the Senate.

Here, sir, is brought to our knowledge the frightful and appalling fact that nearly fiftyseven thousand human beings on the confinent of North America, and within the jurisdiction of the Government of the United States, are in danger of actual starvation a famil-what ore the arguments advanced by those who would make up believe that we ought not men this designed promptly gutt unhesitatingly Why, sir, we are told that some of these neo ple who will be benefited by this resolution were rebels; that they tried to destroy our Government; and all the animosities and resentments engendered by the war are aroused : and the fiercest passions of the heart are my nealed to to prevent the Congress of the United States from doing a noble, generous, and praiseworthy act. Doubtless some who were rebels will be relieved by this bill; but I will not stop to ask myself, the question, when a human being is in danger of staryation, what his past life has been, much less to som these ly all his acts and recall tomemory those deeds which would tend to arouse in my heart auger, hatred, "engeance, and all that is wicked human nature, when charity, love to our tellow-man, and all-that is akin to the 'divine attributes should alone be invoked. Among the noble works that the Christian prople of this nation are engaged in is flut of raising money and sending missionaries into heathen lands to feed, glothe, enlighten, civilize, and Christianize those people. And in the midst of this glorious work, so creditable to us, and which will redound to the enduring tame and honor of our nation, in the midst of all the civilizing and humanizing agencies that are now working out the amelioration of the a stain upon the honor of our country, and so huge a blot upon the civilization of the age, by placing it upon the record of this House that the Congress of the United States refused to give bread to nearly sixly thousand starving people who live under the same Government with us? Sir, there is no one who looks much the crime of treason perpetrated by the leaders of the late rebellion with more horror than I do. I believe that the people of this connfilelitial proportions the enormity of this manstrons crime of treason against the Government. But the people-who are to be reached by this generous act, rebels though they may be, are of that class who were always to be pitied rather than condemned. I mean the debried masses of the people, who, if left to of their more artful and designing leaders.-And now, when through executive clemency the leading techtors escape punishment, and the wealthy ones are particled and have their valwable estates restored to them, would it not be exact indeed were we not to meet the demand for bread for the starting poor? charity because the southern people are unwill fine to contribute to alleviate the wants of their people, and because the Legislature of true does it follow that because they do not do their daty that we should imitate their ex-destitute people of the South-Mr. KOONTZ said :

es this or not it matters not. I maintain that it is a high and solemn duty resting upon us to do this, and we should perform it regardless of other and minor considerations. But a short time since the civilized world applanded munificent donation of the philanthronist, Mr. George Peabody, for the relief of the destitute poor of the South. If such an act is commendable in an individual, is it not equally so in a nation? If acts of disinterested benevolence nd charity render the name of an individual immortal, would they not lend imperishable honor and renown to a nation? It will ever be remembered to the lasting credit of the United States that they have been prompt in meeting the demands made upon them for the suffering poor of other countries. Let us bear in mind, though, that while acts of national charity form the brightest part of a country's history, that national honor may be dimmed by acts of rindictiveness and barbarism. Sir, among the acts of the four eventful years

I concur with the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. Donnetar] that this will prove a most powerful measure of reconstruction; that it will carry conviction to the minds of those heretofore deluded people that we are not disposed to deal with them in a spirit of harshness and vindictiveness. But whether it accomplish-of civil tear that will stand out conspicuously upon the page of history is that of General dran' who, when the forces of Lee were driven from their strongholds at Petersburg and Rickmand and were compelled to surrender to the resistless legious of the Republic, ordered ration- to be dealt out to a beaten and vanquished toe. If amid the reverberations of the guns which had just ceased their work of death and caroage the commander of the Union armies could deal out rations to an armed but beaten adversary, cannot the Congress of the United States, now when war no longer exists and peace is fast spreading its haleyon wings over the nation, rise above the passions and prejudies that have been invoked here, and in the spirit of true Christian charity and benevolence extend this boon to a starving people?

Sir, while I hold a seat upon this floor I shall steadily resist any effort that may be made to reinstate in the high places of trust and power the rebels who sought to overthrow the ernment, believing that it belongs to the loyal people of the country to settle and adjust the jucations that have grown out of the war. But for the honor and reputation of the nation. for the preservation of her good name and fame among the nations of the earth, out of the respect that we have for the opinions of mankind, now and in the future, let it not be of school-books and Bibles, where intelligence contracts as they may detru necessary for the is wide-spread, and charity and benevalence among the characteristics of her people, that the Representatives of a great, free, prospergive bread to their starving countrymen. All resolution will pass.

On the 25th, after being reinforced, the Indians made a sudden rush on the weakest point, succeeded in getting into the fort, and butchered every man woman and child, not one has ing left to tell the tale.

The fort was under the command of Colonel Rankin, and Company C. 31-1 United States Infantry, was the only company gartisoning the fort. The report is current that these hostile Indians have made a declaration that they intend to drive the United States troops from the Upper Missouri, and that they have commenced with Fort Kearney and Fort Bulord, Taking into consideration the small number of The gallant Phil. Sheridan, at New troops at each post, it would be a very easy matter to capture and massacre every man, CT Major General Hancock started from Leavenworth, Kansas, on Monday for the country inhabited by the Sioux, Cheyenne and Arrapahoe Indians with fifteen hundred cavalry and infantry and a battery of artiflery. He was also accompanied by several chiefs and braves of the Deiawares, who are to act as guides and scouts. General A. J. Smith commands the regiment of cavalry. The expedition is not bound on a hostile errand further than the punishing of those inclined to be belfigurent, the main object being to strengthen the friend-hip of the peaceable inhabitants.

The view of the Indian depredations on the frontier, Gen. Sherman bas issued an order that two pieces of Artillery and twenty muskets, with proper ammunition, shall be supplied to each steamer that ascends the Missouti river above Sionx City the coming season.
